

I beg for hard rain,
epic downpour leaving me
okay staying in

DJ Gaskin

Missing my dear friends,
We need to get together
Bottle. Friday. Now!

Marty Kirchhof

An odd, half-way life,
A strange state of suspension,
Yearning for normal.

Dina Waxman

Cat's green gaze calms me.
Tree tops echo in birdsong.
Our son smiles on screen, safe.

Sandra McCall

Have a little fun
Let's play Quarantine Haiku
Matching syllables

Mark Overman

Hunter Gatherer
Domestic search for nurture
Frozen Hot Pocket
Donna Beal

I thought "I just need
Time to clean my messy house"
That was not the case
Jen Pace Dickenson

Coronavirus
Major changes loom ahead
For now safe at home.
Priscilla Yeager

Hummingbirds arrive
Unaware of our concerns
We will persevere
Maggie McLeod

WARM
Southerners are warm
and caring
will we ever hug again
Anne Regan

As an introvert
Staying home is fine with me
Unless I have to
Michelle Fleming

Box of fabric scraps
How to thread sewing machine?
My neighbors need masks
Barbara Smith

Elbow deep in flour
Baking what I never eat
Just bake and don't think
Monica Jones

Cooking up a storm
Trying out new recipes
Jeans no longer fit

Jackie Weedon

Hai-haiku! HAIKU!!

Sneeze into your mask or sleeve.

No disease from you.

Wendell Hawken

Vowed not to go out
even to buy groceries but cat won't eat hotdogs.

Erik Bundy

Patience is a gift
Learn to observe life again
Sometimes bad is good

Amber Keeran

The quarantine
Has enriched relationships
Much to my delight

Tom Ervin

Still

Breaking News so grim,
my loved ones far too distant.
Still the spring has come.

Kathy Ackerman

Leaves whisper, birds call
The buzz of a bumblebee
Sounds of quarantine

Clare O'Sheel

Alone in my home -
Fearful of dreaded COVID.

Spring arrives with joy

Gloria Underwood

Golden green of Spring
Exempt from stay-home orders
Visits all of us.

Eileen Mehta

The rain gently drips
Spring has come to the Valley
Flowers burst open

Sharon Cross

Sunshine at the dawn
Clouds ominously cluster
Rain dampens nightfall

Steve Cross

Wisteria blooms'
Sudden intoxication
Filtered through a mask

Not even alive
Until breath invites it in Clever little beast

David Riddle

Covid 19 closed the door
Am I standing in or out
Am I up or down

Luta Licata Sabo

The traffic has been Fabulous! Green lights are the norm for my commute.
